Dear Fredi Bunzl,

Thank you very kindly for your letter and leaflet on Free Radio.

In answer to your question as to the Orchestra which played my old theme on Radio London - it was THE GOLDEN GATE STRINGS playing Mr. Tambourine Man - now incidentally my theme on Friday Night Ride.

Originally the record came out on Columbia DB 7643 but I don't honestly know if it is still available.

I managed to publish 'Radio Onderland' which mentioned the transition from Ship To Shore, the Disc Jockeys etc., but 'Pop Went The Pirates' I presume is still on the publishers shelf. I hope it will come out one day because it's still an interesting story. Perhaps when Commercial Radio comes I can bring it out under a new guise and bring it up to date. Know any good publishers?

Thanks again for writing and I was particularly interested in the Commercial Radio pamphlet.

With every good wish,

Yours sincerely,

KEITH SKUES
